Speaking of the occasion today. President M. S. Browning said that he was happy over the event and that the board of directors were satisfied company fully appreciates the good will of the people, he is certain that, eventually, the service will prove to be for the great good of the entire northern part of Utah.

"There was a great gathering of people in Logan," Mr. Browning said, and of course it was the first time that the people have had an oppor tunity to reach that city by electric service. I believe that it was the argest crowd ever in Logan, and I am certain everybody was well pleased with the entertainment offered and also that there were not many complaints against our company for the ar service given.

"It is certain that the building of the electric car line to Preston will mean much toward the development of southern Idaho and northern Utah. It may be some time before stockholders in the company realize dividends, but it is a project of rather large proportions and has a future, so that, in the end, the investors will realize something out of the enter-It was a gala day for Logan and er people did themselves proud in the entertainment. The city was turned over to the visitors by the mayor, and the county was given to them by the chairman of the county board of commissioners. In fact, all Logan took up the spirit of entertainment and all were welcomed by the citizens. The day was filled with good will a bearish effect today on wheat. Talk of removing the Canadian duty also as much importance to northern Utah as was the placing of the last tle and rail on the Union Pacific road near Promontory Point about a half century ago to the United States.

Governor Spry said that the electric line not only meant closer relationship between the counties of the orth section, but that it enforced the idea that all the counties of Utah should get closer together and work in harmony. President W. H. Wat-tis of the Weber club, David C. Eccles, representing the large Eccles interests, President Browning, repre senting the Ogden-Logan company, and parties from Salt Lake made short addresses.

Bands of music from all over the county were in attendance, each furnishing entertainment. They all were empetitors for first place in the matter of entertainment but asked for no prizes.

At night the paved streets of the city were cleared, and the people indulged in dancing. The agricultural college men contributed to the enter tainment by putting on the "push ball" game. The agricultural boys contested with the Brigham Young college and were defeated by a score

At the noon hour thousands of visitors fed at a barbecue, each person being served with sandwiches made of beef, bread and pickles, the beverage to drink being good fresh buttermilk

The Ogden delegation in a special train was given an ovation when it arrived at Logan at about 11 o'clock. When the Ogden band struck up a lively air, the people cheered. Other delegations, both from Utah and Idaho, were cordially greeted and Logan became the happy host of all within her gates. Salt Lake was represented by about 160 people and the Zionites entered into the spirit of the celebration.

All the speakers of the day were enthusiastic over the success of the company which constructed the elecline between Ogden and Logan, and Secretary Fred G. Taylor of the Amalgamated Sugar company struck responsive chord when he called attention to the fact that the men who built the road did not ask for money from the people.

ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT. On October 31, 1895, there was or ganized in Ogden the first lodge of the Ladies of the Maccabees, now Woman's Benefit association of the Maccabees. Thirteen women gathered together on that Friday eve ning to form a society that should stand for the protection of their homes and loved ones. During the wenty years that have followed the lodge has increased until today there are 300 members, but the same spirit of love and friendship animates them as it did the first women who organized themselves on that far away evening in 1895.

Each year the Maccabees celebrate their anniversary in some suitable manner, remembering those who have worked in the cause during the past and always looking forward to greater achievements in the future. This year the women give an entertainment on Friday evening, October 29, in the W. O. W. hall, 2320 Washing ton avenue, to which every member her family, and all friends are invited. As the hospital service has been put into operation this year, the guards will give the home and hospital drill, which has never before been put on by any Review in the
